Hey, we're Josh & Ruthie

You might know us from @Life of Betts on Instagram, where my wife Ruthie and I share our adventures as full-time travel and lifestyle content creators. We share bucket list destinations, hidden gems and our love for travel. Our passion is to inspire others to embrace a life of adventure and creativity through our content. Over the past three years, we've not only grown our pages to over 500,000+ followers but also built a thriving business. We could have never done it without mastering the art of creating engaging, aesthetic, and viral Reels. Through lots of trial and error, we've uncovered the secrets to filming, editing, and posting content that captivates audiences and drives results.

In this book, we're going to be pulling back the curtain to share the principles and proven strategies we've learned- so you too, can create Reels that stand out, grow your following, and make an impact. Let's dive in and unlock the formula to viral success!

Why Reels Work

Hey creator! Welcome to Book 2 - this is where the magic happens! If Book 1 helped you start your content creator journey, this one is your fast-track to blowing up your reach with Reels that actually get seen. (Yay!)

We're diving into the juicy stuff - how to create high-performing, scroll-stopping, viral-worthy Reels that build your brand and your audience. Sound good? Let's go!

Welcome to the format that changed the game on Instagram. If you're serious about growing your presence or showing your value to brands, Reels are your best friend. They're fast, fun, and-when used well-can introduce your content to thousands of new eyes who've never seen your page before. So, why are they so powerful?

Instagram Loves Reels

- Reels are Instagram's top-performing content type right now.
- The platform prioritises Reels in its algorithm, which means more reach, more views, and more opportunities for growth.
- They're built to keep users engaged longer-exactly what Instagram wants-so the algorithm rewards them with more exposure.

You might notice that Ruthie and I only ever post Reels... that's no mistake. We quickly learned the power of these short-form videos and adapted our content style to match.

Reels = Reach

- Unlike regular feed posts, Reels have a dedicated space on the Explore Page-this is where new people can discover you.
- This makes them one of the only content formats that can consistently reach non-followers, which is gold if you're trying to grow or attract brand deals.

Sounds pretty good, right!? That's why we teach all our students to post Reels as often as they can.

Quick Stats:

- Reels get 22% more engagement than regular videos
- Reels have 2x the reach of standard photo posts on average
- More than half of Instagram users say they've discovered a new creator or business through Reels

Why Reels Work:

- They tap into short attention spans
- They're prioritised by the algorithm
- They're easily shareable
- They blend storytelling + entertainment

So even one viral Reel can lead to a huge spike in followers, engagement, and brand opportunities - but only if your content is aligned with your brand and audience.

Content Strategy

Stick to your content strategy—but make it fun, intentional, and true to you. If you've read Book One: The Ultimate Guide to Becoming a Content Creator, you'll already know the power of a strong brand identity. Having a clear content strategy—your niche, pillars, tone, and aesthetic—is what keeps your page cohesive and recognisable.

But here's the thing:

That strategy doesn't stop at your static posts. It absolutely needs to carry through to your Reels.

Why? Because:

- Reels are often where you'll gain the most new followers.
- A consistent style builds trust and authority in your niche.
- It creates a library of valuable clips you can repurpose later.

We like to think of Reels as the “moving version” of your brand. This is where your energy, story, and creativity can shine the brightest—so make it count!

Let's bring this to life with some real talk:

You know us by now—Ruthie and I don't just “wing it” when it comes to Reels. Everything we post is aligned with a strategy that we actually follow.

But strategy doesn't mean stiff!

It's about knowing your direction, then allowing your personality and ideas to flow freely within that path.

We love creating content with intention.
Here's how we do it (and how you can too!):

1. Start With Your Hook 🎬

Every great Reel starts with a reason to stop scrolling.

Ask yourself:

- What makes this clip exciting or valuable?
- What's the emotional or practical payoff for my audience?
- What angle will make it instantly relatable or shareable?

Example:

If you're filming a mountain cabin stay:

- Is it the floor-to-ceiling glass walls and epic views?
- The eco-friendly build and off-grid vibes?
- Or the unbelievable price tag under R1000?

Choose the angle that best connects with your audience then go from there.

2. Plan Your Visual Flow 🎥

Reels that feel polished (but still authentic) perform best.

Here's a cheat sheet:

- Choose 3–5 short clips that show off your hook clearly.
- Keep visuals varied: wide shot, close-up, movement, moment.
- Film extra—even if it feels unnecessary. You'll thank yourself later.

Don't delete any of your raw footage. Store it safely (Google Drive, iCloud, external hard drive—whatever works).

You'll want it for repurposing later.

3. Repurpose Your Gold ✨

Yes, you can reuse footage!

Re-editing your best-performing clips with:

- A trending audio
- A new caption
- Fresh text overlays

... gives you a whole new Reel without starting from scratch.

Smart and efficient.

4. Add a Call-to-Action (CTA)

Reels shouldn't just end. They should invite interaction.

That's how you build community and signal to Instagram that your content is worth boosting.

Here are some practical CTAs to try:

- “Save this for later so you don’t forget 🤝”
- “Follow for more travel hacks like this!”
- “Tag someone who needs to see this”
- “Which tip was your fave? Let us know in the comments!”
- “Want part two? Hit follow + drop a 🔥”
- “Screenshot this for your next trip 🔱”

5. Always Come Back to Your Pillars

Before hitting record, ask yourself:

- Which content pillar is this supporting?
- What kind of value am I offering—education, inspiration, entertainment?
- Does this feel aligned with my overall tone and audience?

Your Reels should feel like a natural extension of your brand. If someone landed on your page and watched 10 of your Reels in a row, would they walk away knowing what you're about?

That's the level of consistency to aim for.

Filming Quality Clips For Reels

Now that you've learned how to create a strong content strategy and choose the right angles for your Reels, let's talk about how to actually film them.

As we discussed in Book One, you don't need fancy gear or a camera crew to create great Instagram content.

Your phone is more than enough.

In fact, we grew our audience to 130,000 followers using just an iPhone 12- and we pushed it to its full potential!

The beauty of using your phone is that you're already familiar with it. You're used to filming in portrait mode, which is perfect for Reels, and editing is easy too since most apps (including Instagram itself) are designed for mobile use.

So if you're just starting out, use the phone you already have. Later down the line, when your page starts to grow, it might be worth investing in a newer model with better camera specs- especially if video becomes a key part of your brand.

One quick tech tip to remember:

Instagram compresses video quality down to 1080p- even if you upload it in 4K.

But don't let that stop you from filming in 4K if your phone allows it. Shooting in 4K gives you more detail and flexibility when you edit. You can crop in, stabilise footage, or zoom slightly without losing sharpness.

Speaking of stabilisation:

If your phone has built-in stabilisation, you're good to go. But if not, consider using a gimbal or tripod to keep your footage smooth. This makes a huge difference in your final result. A tripod is especially helpful when filming yourself- you can set up the frame exactly how you want it, no camera buddy required.

Always clean your camera lens before filming!!

It might seem like a random tip, but it's honestly one of the EASIEST and most effective ways to instantly improve the quality of your content. Smudges, fingerprints, or dust can make your videos look hazy or dull- no matter how good your phone is.

You can almost always find a scrunched-up tissue in Ruthie's pocket because she takes this one seriously 😊 It's a small habit, but it makes a big difference.

1. Always shoot in portrait.

Reels are made to be watched on phones, which means vertical is the way to go. Shooting in portrait mode ensures your video fills the screen and feels natural to scroll through.

2. Clean your lens.

It sounds simple, but this one's often forgotten. A quick wipe with a tissue before filming can make your footage instantly crisper and clearer - no more smudgy, blurry vibes.

3. Keep it steady.

Shaky footage is distracting. If you can, use a tripod or stabiliser (newer phones have built-in stabilisation too). Holding your phone with two hands or propping it against something works in a pinch!

4. Level your shot.

A straight horizon makes everything feel more polished. Turn on your camera's grid lines to help keep things balanced, especially for landscape or walking shots.

5. Adjust your exposure.

iPhone: Tap to focus, then slide your finger up or down to adjust the exposure. Lowering it slightly often adds depth and mood.

Adding Text

Text is a powerful tool to help reinforce your message, highlight key points, or simply guide your viewer through what they're watching.

When to Use Text:

- To highlight important info or context
- To create subtitles (especially helpful if someone's watching without sound, did you know most people actually watch reels without audio!)
- To encourage interaction (e.g. questions or CTAs like “What do you think?” or “Tag a friend!”)

How to Add Text:

1. After recording or uploading your video, tap the “Aa” icon at the top of your screen.
2. Type your text, then customise it with different fonts, colours, and styles.
3. Drag and drop to place the text where you want it.
4. Adjust the timing of each text box so it appears/disappears exactly when you need it to.

Where to Put Text:

- Avoid covering important parts of the video or your face.
- Use Instagram's on-screen guides to help centre or align your text neatly.
- Plan ahead: When filming, leave space above your subject's head so there's room for text without making the frame feel cramped.

Create a Hook

Let's talk about hooks- those first 2–3 seconds of your Reel that make or break your video. This is the moment that decides whether someone keeps watching... or keeps scrolling. No pressure 😊

Think of your hook like a trailer for your video. It's your chance to grab attention fast with something eye-catching, curious, or valuable. The more engaging it is right from the start, the more likely people are to stay- and the more people will see your content.

What makes a good hook?

- Movement: Reels with action (like a flip, pan, or walking shot) tend to stop thumbs faster than static clips.
- A bold visual: Use your most wow-worthy moment up front- a beautiful view, an unexpected reaction, or something intriguing.
- A curiosity-piquing title: Add bold, easy-to-read text over your opening that asks a question, gives a teaser, or makes a bold statement.

Tips for Text in Your Hook:

- Keep your title short so viewers can read it quickly (2–3 seconds max!)
- Use bold fonts or background text to help it stand out- just don't cover the action
- Place it near the top or bottom of the screen where it's easy to read

Hook Ideas That Work Across Niches:

Different niches can use different angles, but these formulas tend to perform well across the board:

- “Can you believe this place actually exists?”

→ Travel / Unique Stays

Start with an eye-catching clip of a glass cabin in the mountains or a treehouse on the beach.

- “I bet you didn’t know you could do this with [product/service]...”

→ Product-based Business / Wellness / Photography

Show an unexpected use or result – e.g., a body oil doubling as perfume, or a Lightroom tip.

- “Here are 3 things I wish I knew before...”

→ Lifestyle / Business / Parenting

Great for bite-sized advice or lessons learned, backed by authentic clips.

- “POV: You finally find a place that...”

→ Food / Travel / Fashion

Lean into storytelling with a first-person perspective – like discovering a tiny cafe or wearing your dream outfit.

- “This one’s for my fellow [target audience]...”

→ Niche-specific

Speak directly to your people – whether it’s solo travellers, eco-conscious mamas, or Airbnb hosts.

Trending Audio

If you're in the creator space, you've probably heard people talk about trending audio—but what exactly is it, and why does it matter?

A trending audio is a sound or song that's rapidly gaining popularity on Instagram Reels. When a large number of users start using the same audio, Instagram's algorithm recognises this and begins pushing Reels using that audio to a broader audience. In short: using trending audio can increase your discoverability and help your videos get seen by more people.

Why is it so powerful?

When you use a trending sound, your Reel is more likely to appear in the feeds of users who have engaged with similar content or who have watched other Reels using that same sound. The algorithm connects the dots and serves your content to the right audience.

How to spot trending audio:

When you're scrolling through your Reels feed, keep an ear out for songs or sounds you hear repeatedly—these are usually trending. You can also look for a little upward arrow next to the name of the sound (Instagram's subtle way of flagging a trending audio). Even better, Instagram now has a built-in tool for this: when adding music to your Reel, click on the “Trending” tab to instantly see what's hot right now.

Jump on it early:

To really maximise your reach, try to use audios that have under 5,000 uses. These are newly trending sounds-and getting in early gives your Reel the chance to ride the wave of popularity as the sound picks up momentum. Think of it like catching the wave before it crests: your video will be more likely to get pushed to a wider audience as the trend grows.

Extra tips:

- Save audios you like as you scroll, so you can easily find them later when you're ready to film.
- Consider pairing trending sounds with original voiceovers, especially if you're giving tips or storytelling. This keeps your content both trend-aware and personal.
- If you're unsure what's trending in your niche, spend 5–10 minutes a day browsing Reels in your industry. You'll quickly spot what's gaining traction.

Fulfilling the Promise

Stick to the promise you made in your hook. If you said you'd teach something, inspire, or entertain-deliver on it!

For travel content, that might mean adding quick on-screen text with the place name, what it costs, or what to expect. It keeps your video valuable and engaging.

Wrap up with a strong call to action-like "Save this spot!" or "Tag someone who'd love this!"-to encourage interaction.

And for a clever boost, try looping your video back to the beginning. It's a subtle trick that can lead to extra views and better performance.

Use Trail Reels

Instagram's Trial Reels feature is a total game-changer. It lets you post Reels that are only shown to non-followers-your current audience won't see them at all.

This means you can experiment freely without the pressure of performance or fear of harming your engagement.

It's the perfect testing ground to try new ideas, take creative risks, and see what resonates. If something flops, no worries. If it performs well? Instagram gives you the option to move it to your main feed so your followers can see it too.

Think of it as a creative cheat code: learn what works, fine-tune your content, and only share the hits. For anyone still learning the formula for viral Reels—this tool is your best friend.

Optimising Your Reels

You've created a Reel – now let's make sure it performs. There are little tweaks and pro-level strategies that can take your Reel from “meh” to magnetic. Here's how we optimise every single one of ours, and how you can too.

Keep It Short and Sweet

While Reels can be up to 90 seconds, the best-performing ones are usually:

- 15–30 seconds long
- Grab attention in the first 3 seconds
- End with a sense of completion or curiosity (this encourages replays!)

Nail the Caption

Your caption isn't just decoration – it's powerful real estate.

- Be concise: Get to the point fast.
- Add keywords: These help your content show up in search.
- Include a CTA: Tell viewers what to do next – like, save, comment, follow. “Tag a friend who needs to see this

19

Use Strategic Hashtags

Reels are discoverable beyond your followers - hashtags help you reach even further.

- 5–10 relevant hashtags
- A mix of high-volume tags (e.g. #travel) and niche-specific ones (e.g. #vanlifesa)
- Add them to the caption, not the comments

Tag Your Location

This:

- Helps you show up in location-based searches
- Increases discoverability with local or interested audiences

Engage Before and After Posting

Instagram rewards active users - not “post and ghost” energy.

Set aside 15–30 minutes before and after you post to:

- Authentically like, comment, and reply to others
- Respond to DMs
- Show up in Stories

Use Insights to Post at the Right Time

You have gold at your fingertips with Creator insights.

- Check when your followers are most active (usually in the evenings or lunchtime midweek)
- Test and track what times get the most reach
- Consistency helps the algorithm learn your rhythm

Watch time matters more than likes: A full watch = higher ranking. Repost top performers after a few weeks - it's not lazy, it's smart.

Our Encouragement To You

Not every Reel is going to go viral, and that's okay!

Remember, building a successful page is a marathon, not a sprint. That's why it's so important to post about something you're truly passionate about. Ask yourself: What can you create and share, even if no one was watching? Don't get too caught up in views-those will come and go. Every page has its ups and downs, and the biggest encouragement we can give you is to stay consistent. We've seen so many people start strong, only to get discouraged by low views and slowly stop posting. But we know if they had stayed consistent, their following would have grown. As your page grows, you'll be able to see what your audience engages with most-what's getting the most views, what they enjoy. It's okay to adjust your content pillars every 6 months (or as your audience evolves) to match what's resonating best. Most importantly, have fun with it! The more you love what you do, the faster your audience will grow. Keep an eye on what others are doing, but avoid constant comparison. As we always say: "Comparison is the thief of all joy." And remember, "You're not going to wake up every day feeling motivated. You have to learn how to be disciplined."

Stay consistent, stay true to your passion, and enjoy the journey!
